Amateur Show By Elks Very Successful

40 Entries From Pass Towns
Display Various Forms of Self-Expression in Music, Song and Dance.

Coleman Elks scored a smashing success on Friday evening when they staged their first amateur contest to a near capacity house in the Community hall. Forty amateurs paraded their talent for the enjoyment and aplause of the audience. Amateurs were present from all Pass towns and so great was the response to compete that the Elks were forced to limit the entries to forty, with each competitor allowed three minutes on the stage.

The program was divided into three classes; vocal, instrumental and dancing. Miss Ismay Hadley gained first honors in the vocal class, closely followed by Miss Mamie McLellan and Freddie Ledieu who received second and third prizes respectively. Alex McIsaac's Old Time Orchestra received first prize in the instrumental class, Albert Horrocks of Michel, playing the violin was second and Owen Jones of Coleman playing the musical saw was third. The dancing was featured by the marvellous showing of a little four-year-old girl, Aileen Korman, who completely captivated the audience with her singing and dancing performances, and received thunderous applause as well as first prize as a reward for her efforts. Fred Blazenko featured a Russian dance with many intricate steps and was awarded second prize. Bobby Emmerson took third prize with an exhibition of tap-dancing.

Each competitor was introduced to the audience by Major

RAILWAY BUSINESS PICK- ING UP

Mr. J. C. Pike, assistant district passenger agent of the C.P.R. at Coleman, visited business houses in the Pass towns on Wednesday. Much heavier traffic is already booked for the summer season, including special trains from Vancouver, Calgary and other points on the system for the Vimy pilgrimage. Several convention parties from the States will use special trains over the C.P.R. to the coast, and compete with the increased traffic which the Vancouver jubilee celebration may create, passenger business will show a substantial increase.

WINS CURLING PRIZE

O. E. S. Whiteside, former general manager of International Coal & Coke Co. Ltd., has lost none of his enthusiasm for curling since he left here in May, 1935. At Sarria, where he has been residing since leaving here, he was the runner-up in the club handicap competition, and was awarded a club pin, which is very nicely designed, and shows the year of organization as 1874. He states: "I hope everything continues well with the old town."

KWASNIE—FERGUSON WEDDING

The wedding of Dorothea Joy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ferguson, and Rudolph Joseph, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kwasiene, both of Coleman, took place at St. Paul's church, Rev. Roy C. Taylor, pastor, and W. Flett, of Calgary. Her birthplace was Villa Nova, Norfolk County, Ontario, born in 1869, and in 1891 her marriage to Mr. Powell took place. They lived in Ontario till 1909, when they moved to Taber. Leaving there in 1920, they had since lived in Coleman. Her health forced her to live in a lower altitude, and since 1932 she lived in Brandon.

Mrs. Powell was very fond of music, and gladly gave her services when occasion required, having been active in church and choir work. She was a member of St. Paul's United church, the ladies Aid and a life member of the Women's Misionary Society. She was also an active member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Her mother and father, and two sisters pre-deceased her; her only surviving relatives being her husband; Ross, her son, one time principal of Coleman schools, and now of Calgary, and her daughter, Mrs. Carson.

Many expressions of sympathy have been extended to the family, who were familiar figures in Coleman, and well known for their activities.

Major Duffy of Fernie introduced the prize winners of the Fernie amateur show held recently, composed of a trio of two cowboys and a cowgirl; Alex Ruzzio, a singer, and "Mushy" the tap-dancer. Performances were staged by the Fernie amateurs and were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. Major Duffy by his ready wit and humorous sallies added greatly to the enjoyment of the performances.

All competitors not getting in to the prize winning classes were awarded consolation prizes donated by Coleman merchants. The door prize, a handsome reading lamp, was won by Mrs. Alex Irving of West Coleman.

Harry Parkinson as a comedian caused much amusement as he sang about Major Hoople only to get the gong. Andy Thorner gave an excellent ten minute exhibition of cartooning which received much applause. Both acts were non-competing. Both acts were non-competing.

Mrs. G. R. Powell Passed On, Last Thursday

Widely Respected Former Coleman Resident Died at Home of Daughter in Brandon—Burial in Calgary.

The news of the death of Mrs. Powell, wife of G. R. Powell, came in a telephone message to the latter about 9.30 p.m. last Thursday, from his son Ross in Calgary. Death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carson, (Marjorie) in Brandon, with whom she had been living for four years. Mr. Powell left on Friday to attend the funeral which was held in Calgary on Monday.

Rev. C. E. A. Pocock, of Okotoks, conducted the funeral service, at Park memorial chapel, and interment followed in Burnsland cemetery. Mr. Pocock was ordained in Little Current, Ont., when Mrs. Powell lived there, and the minister referred to the active part she took at the time of his ordination.

Pall-bearers included old friends from the Crows Nest Pass; Dr. W. G. Neilson and J. Haining, formerly of Coleman; C. V. Aspinelle, formerly of Bellevue; C. C. Cook and H. Bryan, of Taber; and W. Flett, of Calgary.

Her birthplace was Villa Nova, Norfolk County, Ontario, born in 1869, and in 1891 her marriage to Mr. Powell took place. They lived in Ontario till 1909, when they moved to Taber. Replies to the mis-spelt word competition were received from the following: Pauline Ferstay, of Hillcrest; Mary Garner, H. F. Eyesackers, Frances Short, Bernard McDonald, George Houghton, with the correct answer. The intentionally mis-spelt word was a "Bouquet", in the announcement of Blairmore Greenhouses, in Ed. Liedieu's advertisement. It was intentionally misspelt "Bouquet". These names were placed in a box and the first drawn, George Houghton, was awarded a hand-some fruit dish.

Others competing were E. C. Clark, Olive Mills of Blairmore, Daisy Loche, Velie De Martin and Mary Toppiano. They chose the word "Syrup," which was a typographical error missed in the proofreading, while Daisy Loche chose the word "Lifebuoy," which was spelt as two words instead of one.

ST. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH

Next Sunday, May 10, is Mother's Day. Let us all gather in the sanctuary to honor the motherhood of our land. In the morning the Sunday school will unite with the congregation in an hour of helpful fellowship. The scholars of the Sunday school will have a leading part in the service.

Someone has well said "God could not be everywhere, so He made Mothers." In the evening at 7 Rev. John Wood of Hillcrest will preach and will preside at the congregational meeting immediately after the service, when the members, adherents and friends of the church will be asked to vote on the choice of a minister. It is important that everyone interested should be present.

Attention is called to the display advertisement giving final limit on date for discount on town taxes. There was quite a rush last Saturday to save the 10 per cent discount allowed all who paid on or before May 2.

As It Happened-- Off The Record

Meeting Forwarded Protest Resolution to Provincial Govt.—
No Reply Received to Date.

Retail merchants met on Monday evening in the council chamber, to protest against the cumbersome method of collecting the Ultimate Consumers Tax, which came into force on May 1, whereby every retailer becomes a collector of 2 per cent of 15c up.

After the preliminary dodging to escape the duties of chairman and secretary, Mayor Pattinson and Wilfrid Dutil kindly took the offices. Very quickly voices of protest were raised among the 56 retailers present, and from the discussion it appeared that George Cruckshank and a Mr. Lipnick of Hillcrest were the only merchants who had collected the tax, even at the sacrifice of business which had gone elsewhere where the tax was not collected.

All agreed that it was necessary that the government raise more money, but stoutly objected to the manner in which it is to be collected, entailing too much work, and suggested that it be levied in a manner similar to the Dominion sale. "uz.

Charlie Emmerson of Bellevue took a dig at the pre-election promise of Mr. Aberhart that purchasing power would be increased and no new taxes would be added. The Social Credit member for Pincher Creek, armed with a voluminous scrap book, then joined in the fray, giving a recital of what "a dirty mess" they found at the government offices with the cupboard bare and accusing the news-

The Burden Of Debt

Figures revealing the enormous burden of debt under which the people of Canada are staggering have recently been published in the first of a series of articles by Major J. Greetham de Lorimer in the Montreal Daily Star.

The article is prefaced by the announcement that the author is a recognized statistician with an international reputation, that his work has been officially recognized both in Great Britain and the United States and that the information he reveals throws "a new and alarming light on the whole Canadian debt situation."

Major de Lorimer then proceeds to hurl figures at his readers showing at the outset that, exclusive of private capital invested in domestic enterprises such as farms, homes and other small estate property the people and industries of this country are indebted to investors in a total of $18,225,244,923, bearing bonded indebtedness of Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities, and investments in railroads, electric railways, electric stations, telephone companies, all manufacturing concerns, mines and mineral industries, forestry and fisheries industries, public utilities, trading establishments, finance, insurance, land and mortgage companies.

The writer states that of this total securities for $9,302,920,361 are held by foreign investors or 51.04 per cent., and the remaining $9,922,424,682 or 48.92 per cent. represents investment by Canadians.

Dividing the total in another manner Major de Lorimer shows that of this grand total $14,437,496,492 or 62.70 per cent. is "dead weight" debt or indebtedness on which principal and interest must be paid out of public taxation.

Further analysis of several tables of figures scattered through Major de Lorimer's article show that the total bonded debt chargeable to the people of the five prairie provinces is $1,470,850,067 of which $915,645,966 represents dead weight debt for which payment must be made out of public taxation levied on the people of these three provinces.

Allocating these debts to the three individual provinces, every man, woman and child in Manitoba is pledged in a total of $871,69 or for dead-weight debt, $533,16. Saskatchewan's per capita share of total debt is $486.66 or $255.41 per capita. Every individual in Alberta is pledged for a total debt of $835.70 and for debt payable out of taxation $191.53, and it must not be forgotten that these figures do not include private capital invested in small domestic enterprises. Multiply these figures by four and a fraction and the indebtedness of the average family is revealed, if Major de Lorimer's figures are unimpeachable.

Major de Lorimer lays the blame for this condition of affairs at the doors of the Federal and provincial governments as well as the municipalities and school authorities of each province, stating that this huge burden is attributable to over-borrowing and not to Canada's participation in the Great War.

There can be no gainsaying the implied corollary that Canada is over-governed when it is pointed out that there is a representative in the Canadian House of Commons for every 10,376,786 people (1931 census) must pay for the privilege of a Dominion House of Commons consisting of 245 representatives and nine provincial legislatures consisting of another 500 legislators. It is not along the cost of upkeep of so many legislative institutions which has plunged the people into such heavy indebtedness but the expenditures which so many representatives have been expected to authorize to ensure a place in the sun for their respective constituencies.

That this country has more government than the population warrants can be understood when it is pointed out that there is a representative in the Canadian House of Commons for every 42,354 persons as compared with one for every 74,909 of population in the British House of Commons and when to this is added representation in the provincial legislatures averaging one for every 113,762 of population, the expense of government is altogether disproportionate to the population and its ability to pay.

To cope with this situation various remedies have been broached from time to time including proposals to reduce the number of legislatures to five, one for the maritimes, one each for Ontario and Quebec, one for the prairie provinces and one for British Columbia. Another is a reduction in the status of the provincial legislatures to that of the county councils of England which unlike the legislatures are not sovereign bodies and are limited in scope and authority.

With the western provinces in financial difficulties some of these proposals are likely to be at least discussed in the near future, even if they are not the solution to the problem.

The Farming Profession

The agricultural institutions of learning have changed all this. Farming has been elevated to the rank of a science, and weather conditions permitting, they know just what to expect and mostly get it. Agriculture has become as technical a business as mechanics, and because of this fact it is becoming a highly specialized profession. —Chatham News.

Appear Fond Of Ink

Rats have been drinking black ink at night in the Swellendam, South Africa, city hall. Possibly there were blondest who wish to become brunettes, is one suggestion. P. Heyns, the municipal foreman, says he frequently has found his ink well, which he kept in a locked room, empty. Before leaving the office one afternoon he poured the ink into a saucer. Next morning it was empty.

Great Britain has decided to continue use of its 20,000 bicycles for delivery of special delivery letters, but will also add a large number of motorcycles.

Story Of Mummy Case

English Actor Linked Ocean Tragedy With Egyptian Curse

Twenty-four years ago, early on the morning of April 15, 1912, the great new steamship, the Titanic, on her maiden voyage, foundered in mid-Atlantic, after striking an iceberg, with a loss of 1,500 lives. What mysterious forces of Fate brought about the disaster?

Tom Terriss, the celebrated English actor, on an American broadcast some time ago, linked the ocean tragedy with the black magic of an Egyptian mummy case.

Warned by a palmist not to buy, while in Egypt, a mummy case, he was much tempted when one was offered to him for $100, but he refused to buy it. But next day the dealer came to his hotel and when he cut the price to $50 Terriss decided to defy superstition. He shipped it to Alexandria, to await his return from big game hunting up country. The first day out, his gun exploded and he lost an eye and had one arm badly injured. Homeward bound to England, a friend travelling with him died suddenly and another who had been with them jumped overboard.

In London he offered the case to another collector. That night he received a phone call that the collector had been found dead in front of the case, a revolver in his hand. The case was then sent to the British Museum, where a photographer took a picture of the case, but while he was developing the film, too, fire. An artist painted a picture of it and on leaving with it was knocked down by a team of horses and the painting was destroyed.

Finally, the British Museum offered the case to the Metropolitan Museum in New York. It was accepted and shipped. The mummy case went down with the Titanic!

Gold From Platinum

Modern Transmutation Is Described By University Men

A method of turning platinum into gold—somewhat the reverse of the ancient alchemist's dream of forming a basic metal to the precious yellow—was described to the National Academy of Science.

Dr. E. O. Lawrence and Dr. J. M. Cork performed the experiment with the cyclotron, or whirligig machine, in which the nuclei of atoms are whirled about by an electric field to attain energies up to 11,000,000 volts and then shot at the atoms of other elements.

Dr. Lawrence described how a beam of these atomic nuclei of deuterium or heavy water with energies of 5,000,000 volts had been shot through a number of foils or thin sheets of platinum.

The platinum atoms apparently captured some of the speeding particles and added them to their own masses to change themselves into the next lower elements in the table which is gold, he said.

Feel Canada Is Home

Large Number Of British Born Prefer Living In Domdon

Prof. Stephen Leacock, well-known writer, in response to the suggestion of a London paper that now his duties as Professor at McGill were over he might return to his native land, England, replied in part, "No, I don't think I can leave this country. There is something in its distance, and its isolation and its climate that appeals for ever. Thank you, Mother England. I don't think I'll come home. I'm home now!" In this expression he is voicing the feelings of a large number of Britshers who have made this Dominion their place of residence.—Brantford Expositor.

More than $5,000,000 will be spent this year on new roads in the Transvaal of South Africa.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER

In some women there is a double desire for wearing thin gas of minnows and a desire to pride. Painful periods are nature's warning that something is wrong with the head or neck. Failure to heed and correct it may lead to chronic conditions with sometimes bad consequences. Growing girls often suffer from irregularities, catarrhal disorders. Dr. Perez Jackson, a noted physician, is a specialist in a disease called "gas of minnows" for women and can be consulted at every 2000 block, 10th and 1st, tabular, 400 ft., liquid $1.00, large size, tabular, $1.35.

The King's Birthday

Commercial Community Not Obligated To Observe It As Holiday

No special proclamation will be required to make the birthday of King Edward VIII, occurring on June 23, a public holiday. In several statutes it is set forth that the birthday of the reigning sovereign shall always be a public holiday. This means that it will be a holiday in the Government service, the banking institutions, the schools and municipal offices. To what extent it will be observed by the commercial community will depend on them to decide.

June 3, the birthday of King George V, goes off the calendar as a holiday. It was never observed so generally as other national holidays, largely because it occurred so soon after the Victoria Day holiday on May 24. Something of the same difficulty may be experienced from the fact that the new King's birthday on June 23 will be a week before July 1, which has perhaps the most general observance of all Canadian holidays.

Post Office Revenue

Operating Profit Of $3,600,000 For Year Ending In March

The post office department had an operating profit of $3,000,000 in the year ending in March, Postmaster-General Elliott reported to the House of Commons. Net revenue totalled $32,507,400.

The post office department is charged nothing for its buildings which are erected by the public works department. The postmaster-general, replying to A. A. Heaps (C.C.F., Winnipeg North) agreed it looked anomalous for his department to be charged nothing for rent, repairs or caretaking. At the same time, the practice had been followed since confederation and he agreed one department should do all the building. Perhaps some system of rental could be worked out but it might be difficult.

"It is a question for parliament to decide," added Mr. Elliott.

Awarded Scholarships

Thirty Students Of Canadian Universities Encouraged By Royal Research Council

Thirty students representing 13 Canadian universities received postgraduate scholarships for the year 1930-31 by the national research council, it was announced at Ottawa. The awards include two university fellowships worth $700 each, 11 studentships at $600 each and 17 bursaries at $500 each.

The object of these awards, the council said, is to "build up in Canada a supply of well trained scientists capable of undertaking and carrying through any research required in the promotion and development of industrial processes." The council hopes it will lead to a "more profitable utilization of Canadian raw materials and the expansion of markets for Canadian products."

The platinum atoms apparently captured some of the speeding particles and added them to their own masses to change themselves into the next lower elements in the table which is gold, he said.

Has Been Invaluable

Aviation Playing Great Part In Opening Up Northwest

Planes have opened up the northwest to an amazing degree, Right Rev. A. H. Sovereign, Church of England Bishop of Athabasca, said in an interview at Toronto. Bishop Sovereign spoke of the outstanding work of pilots such as "Wop" May and "Punch" Dickens. His Grace described Pilot McMurtry as "the largest commercial air base in Canada." The opening of the great mining area of Great Bear Lake and Goldfields, he said, has brought about a great influx of population.

Making Cheap Watches

Swiss Peasants Producing Them For Twenty Cents Each

A great outcry has been raised in Switzerland watchmaking industry by the appearance on the markets of watches costing only 20 cents.

Many Swiss watch-making plants have recently gone bankrupt and their plants are now being used to turn out watch parts by the million.

These pieces are adjusted by peasants in their spare time at a cost per gross less than is generally paid for assembling an average watch.

Will Continue Public Life

The King's action in appointing his mother as Grand Master of the Order of the British Empire indicates that Queen Mary will continue to take a big part in public life. When the period of Court mourning ends, it is expected that it will be Queen Mary's desire to resume her former active leadership of woman's interests and social life.

Subject For Debate

Whether Ticker Account Of World Series More Thrilling Than Radio

It is easily debatable whether listening to a radio account of a world series baseball game is as exciting as it used to be in the old days coming over the ticker. Radio announcers do work themselves up in a feverish fury describing how the pitcher is now running the back of his hand with his right hand before beginning the wind-up. Much more effective was the old pause on the ticker while the listener held his breath and then the verdict, Ball one, or Strike one.—New York Times.

Gave Him A Headache

Lighting played a queer prank in Burnside School, New South Wales. Following a loud clap of thunder and a vivid flash, a "ball of fire" the size of a billiard ball darted through the open window, sild a boy's pencil and set fire to the paper on which he was working out a sum. The boy put out the fire with his hand. He was unharmed but complained of a bad headache.

Wild Tribesmen Virtually Destroy The Capital Of Ethiopia

Addis Ababa.—Twenty-one foreigners were killed here by rioting Ethiopians, nearly all of them Armenian or Greek merchants who attempted to defend their stores against looters.

Wild tribesmen burned, looted and killed, virtually destroying the capital of the already shattered empire of Ethiopia.

Italian columns near the lofty city, redoubled their pace in an attempt to reach it and relieve thousands of foreigners virtually besieged in various legations.

Emperor Haile Selassie and his family were safe at Djibouti, French Somaliland. Ending his dramatic early morning flight by train, the negus reached Djibouti and spent the night in the governor's palace. He was reported planning to board a British destroyer to go to England.

In the centre of town, streets were strewn with corpses. Eight bodies were counted on one of them and the mutilated casualties were inestimable.

The first reported fatality among foreigners was Mrs. N. A. Stadlin, wife of an American missionary doctor. She was killed at dawn when a bullet pierced the galvanized roof of the Seventh Day Adventist mission where she was sleeping.

A great portion of the population was pillaging, firing and even burning, determined to raze the capital before the arrival of the Italian forces.

The government "gold house," where treasury funds were held, was the scene of a desperate fight as a mob stormed the posts, defended by machine guns. Swarming over the corpses of their comrades, some of whose hands were chopped off in the fighting, the rioters finally succeeded in capturing the gold stores.

The Ethiopian Red Cross headquarters was destroyed.

The head of the British Red Cross unit, Dr. Melley, was wounded seriously, receiving a bullet wound in the lungs while dragging wounded from the streets. He was given a blood transfusion and was expected to survive.

Natives attacked Dr. T. A. Lambe of Toronto, field director for the Ethiopian mission service, at the mission headquarters, but the staff beat off the assailants, killing one and wounding one. The rioters made off with four mules.

Veteran Lumberman Dead

Joseph Vipond Went To B.C. During Yukon Gold Rush

Nanaimo, B.C.—Joseph William Vipond, retired lumberman and a crown witness in one of the most startling crimes of the Yukon gold rush, is dead here, aged 74.

Mr. Vipond was one of a party of six, including Joseph Claus, which started for the Klondike in 1898. Claus and two others fell behind and some time later Claus' companions were found slain in their tent on the Stikine River in northern British Columbia. Claus was arrested, convicted of murder and sentenced to death in Nanaimo. He maintained his innocence and died of self-administered poison on the eve of execution.

Mr. Vipond, as a member of the original party, was one of the witnesses brought back from the gold trail to testify for the crown.

Born in Illinois, Mr. Vipond came to Vancouver Island as a child. After gold rush days he entered the lumber business and while logging in 1907 made the record cut of the Pacific coast, 13,500,000 feet from one claim on Cowichan Lake. He retired in 1913.

Public Works Program

New Zealand Government To Relieve Unemployment Problem

Wellington, N.Z.—The labor government is embarking on an ambitious program of public works, which it is expected will ameliorate the unemployment situation.

Minister of Public Works R. Semple announced a three-year plan, drawn up by departmental engineers and embodying the government's policy. It is anticipated the plan will provide the chief avenue for the absorption of the unemployed.

Men will be employed in various projects, in the following order of preference: Road construction, river protection, airports, completion of railways, irrigation and drainage schemes, road bridges, overhead railway crossings, buildings, hydro-electric works and housing schemes.

Hydro-electric development is an outcome of the government's policy of providing cheap power for the gold mining industry in view of the encouragement given to the investment of outside capital. In 1935 New Zealand had an average of 38,572 unemployed.

Arrange For Coronation

London.—The king presided at a meeting of his privy council at which it was believed, the date for his coronation was discussed.

Alpine Manoeuvres

Many Rumors and Counter-Charges In Europe

Geneva.—Austrian troops were engaged in Alpine manoeuvres not far from the German border, but the war office at Vienna insisted they were routine.

The German press charged rumors the Austrian troops were concentrated near the Austrian border were French propaganda aimed at influencing British opinion against Germany.

French officials claimed the rumors were attempts to influence the League of Nations on the Ethiopian question, while other French sources charged the "scare" was British propaganda to influence Italy. British quacks in Paris countered the rumors were French propaganda to convince Britain she must lift sanctions against Italy if Austria's independence is to be preserved by Italy's army.

Officials said four infantry battalions, two artillery battalions and one armored car unit were engaged in the Alpine manoeuvres. A total of 1,450 men were said to be participating.

Would Separate Departments

Use Of Commission For Soldiers' Pensions Is Suggested

Ottawa.—Complete separation of the veterans' bureau from the department of pensions and the placing of this body under an independent voluntary national commission was urged before the house pensions committee by Lt.-Col. G. R. Phillips, of the Canadian Corps Association.

At the same time, Capt. Wilfred W. Parry, for the same organization, recommended adjudication on pensions matters become a function of district and county court judges.

Pensions Minister Power, who presided, declared the first of these suggestions echoed an old complaint—that as soon as a man became paid by the government he was suspected by the soldier and regarded by the veteran as an antagonist.

Cheese Bonus Discontinued

Increase In Exports To United States One Reason

Ottawa.—The cheese bonus of 1½ cents a pound which was effective for the last six months of 1935, will be discontinued, Agricultural Minister Gardner announced. One reason was the tremendous increase in exports to the United States under the new trade treaty.

The bonus was introduced by the Bennett government with the object of diverting milk from butter to cheese. In the six months $1,100,000 was paid cheese manufacturers with the volume of production increasing one per cent.

Increased Sales Tax And Other Changes Announced In Budget

Ottawa.—Faced with the biggest budget deficit in Canada's history, Finance Minister Dunning in his budget increased taxes by an estimated $28,000,000 to $30,000,000 this year, headed by a jolting revision of the sales tax from six to eight per cent, the highest point it has ever reached.

The income tax was boosted to higher levels on corporations. Individuals were not affected by the changes.

Tariff changes became effective May 2.

Something unique in history was created when four provincial governors were in the galleries—Mitchell Hepburn, Ontario; John Bracken, Manitoba; T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia, and W. J. Patterson, Saskatchewan.

Budget highlights include:

Deficit for the current fiscal year to be less than $100,000,000 compared with $162,000,000 in the last year.

Sales tax increased to eight per cent from six per cent, and corporation income tax rate increased to 15 per cent, to bring added revenue of $29,000,000.

Three-year exemption from corporation income tax of any metallic mine coming into production between now and Jan. 1, 1940.

Retirement of excise and customs taxes on automobiles designed to lower prices of small cars to consumers.

Drop of 1½ cents a gallon in gasoline from 2½ cents to 2¼ cents a gallon to one cent.

Excise tax on Canadian brandies reduced to $3 per gallon—now $4.

Downward revision of 104 items in the tariff schedule and upward revision of 12, including 50 items removed.

Careless Driving Penalties

Bill Before Federal House Would Make Punishment Heavier

Ottawa.—A jail term of not less than 30 days on conviction the first time of driving a motor car while under the influence of alcohol or a narcotic is proposed in a bill sponsored by T. L. Church, Conservative member of the House of Commons for Toronto-Broadview.

The bill is designed to amend the criminal code with the idea of increasing penalties for careless driving of motor cars. One section declares persons guilty of speeding, racing or cutting-in may be subject to one year's imprisonment or a $200 fine or both.

Only One Voter

Paris.—Albert Cheny had a ballot box all to himself in the French elections. The village of Morteau, in Marne-Haute district, has only three inhabitants—Cheny, his mother and his sister. But as women do not vote, Cheny is the only elector.

Milk Condensing Plant

Red Deer, Alta.—Work will start soon on a milk condensery to be erected in Red Deer by the Central Alberta Dairy pool at an estimated cost of $100,000, it was announced here.

It was expected the plant would be ready for operation in July.

Extension Of the Farm Placement Scheme In All Provinces

Ottawa.—Extension of the farm placement scheme to all provinces was foreshadowed in the House of Commons by Labor Minister Rogers. It has applied for three years to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and involves single unemployed men placed on farms for the winter months.

The house passed a vote of $1,000,000 for the scheme when the minister said he hoped to meet the provinces within the next few weeks and proposed extension of the scheme. At the present time, the Dominion pays $5 a month to the man and the provinces pay $5 to the farmer.

During the past winter, farm placements in Manitoba were 5,200; Saskatchewan, 7,600; and Alberta, 2,269.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) asked what was the use of putting unskilled people on outlying farms when skilled men on good farms could not make a decent living.

Mr. MacInnis said spending money for land settlement was pure waste, it only made it more difficult for the farmers and it was of no help to the city people. The government seemed to forget that production was a social process and under modern conditions no one could produce all his own needs.

"Why don't you suggest training these people as doctors?" asked Miss Agnes Macphail.

"Because there are enough doctors now and a lot of them can't make a living," was the reply. "A lot of doctors should go back to the land."

Miss Macphail said she became annoyed at philanthropists who always wanted to push people out of the cities and onto farms. Doctors, lawyers and manufacturers never wanted to make any new competition for themselves but were eager to create more competition in agriculture.

An investigation of the land settlement scheme, where city relief families are placed on farms, will be conducted before the next session of parliament, Minister Rogers announced.

He intended to visit settlements for first-hand knowledge and to assist him in concluding whether the scheme should be retained, expanded or abandoned.

papers (except The Albertan) of not telling the truth.

This brought a report from the writer that the newspapers did tell the truth, and that in regard to the sales tax they were reporting the attitude of retailers throughout the province, simply because it was all part of the daily grain of the news. As the meeting was called to discuss a simpler way of collecting this Consumers Tax, the gathering agreed it was not a place for a political debate, so the chairman ended the discussion with a couple of thumps on the table. One Social Credit retailer stated that if they did not do as the government told them, they could refuse them a license to do business.

This brought Tom Gushul, the Blairmore photographer to his feet to remind the aforesaid speaker that he must remember that the people are the government, which must take cognizance of their wishes. So another little flash in the pan sizzled and died down without serious repercussions.

A gentleman with a voice strongly reminiscent of Slipperman in Jack Benny's program told how he collected the tax, and he had a direct way of dealing with it. "No pay the tax, no goods," but if the rest of the merchants weren't going to collect, "well, why should he."

Then Tony Cataloni of Blairmore with rapid fire expostulation aired his views, in fact so rapidly it was impossible to keep up with the ideas he tried to convey, but he finished up by exclaiming, "well, give the government everything."

How to collect on credit sales, instalment sales, cash sales and no sales at all was fully discussed for nearly two hours. One present, a strong upholder of the law, would not agree to the resolution telling the government they would not collect the tax, even if it only meant for a few days till they found an easier way, but as he was recently appointed a justice of the peace, why the dignity of the law must be upheld.

Well, after mauling over the matter, to collect or not to collect, the following resolution was passed, and the hat passed to pay the expenses of sending a telegram to the government and to Mr. E. O. Duke, Social Credit member for Rocky Mountain who lives at Canmore.

Here it is as put to the meeting, moved by H. C. McBurney and seconded by Wilfrid Goddard:

NOTES AND COMMENTS

WELL, FOLKS, if this column proves as lively as the meeting of retail merchants on Monday evening, then you will have to pass along a word of appreciation to them for furnishing the entertainment, for it is from that meeting we gained some material and inspiration for leading off this "kolyum." Be it known that "The Journal is the biggest liar of them all" when it comes to dealing with the activities of the provincial government, and we have it on no less an authority than the member for Pincher Creek.

BEING rather thick-skinned after possibly as many years in the newspaper game as the said member has enjoyed in his profession, we can take it like the duck does the water rolling over his back. But we rise to a point of order to remark that the said gentleman was wrong in his remark, for we have always made it a point to stick to the truth, let the chips fall where they may, and have been threatened with boycotts, the blowing up of the office and other dire things for expressing an honest opinion when occasion demanded.

GLIB PROMISES OF $25 monthly, and no increase in taxation, but increased purchasing power are such chestnuts that it is monotonous to even refer to them, but they concern the statement that "newspapers do not tell the truth." We leave it to the public to judge if the independent newspapers of this province tell the truth, or is it only the government fostered Calgary Albertan that is the pure and undefiled apostle of virtue and guardian of the truth? Just answer the question to your own satisfaction. The Journal is just as concerned in good government as those who term all who do not complacently agree with their policies as "bowery politicians," to quote the premier. The policy that built and developed Canada was not of the hairbrained type that now finds itself up against a stone wall.

THE INDEPENDENT press which has to fight its own battles stands for complete liberty of thought and expression as long as it is not seditious or treasonable.

POLITICIANS years ago were past masters in the art of invective. Here is a sample of what Disraeli said of Gladstone: "A sophisticated rhetorician, inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity, and gifted with an egotistical imagination that can at all times command an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign an opponent and glorify himself." No one dares to talk like that nowadays, however hotly he may resent the villainy of a political foe, states the Manchester Guardian.

OWING TO being pushed for time in other departments of our work, we have not been able to give the time to delve into various local matters of interest. But there has been one common chorus of complaint heard in casually strolling around, and that is the damage caused by stray animals. Broken down fences, damaged trees and shrubbery and indignation accumulated over years of suffering of this annoyance was expressed by almost every householder we met who was trying to maintain a garden. If the town authorities were to exercise the power they possess, this nuisance could be cleaned up very quickly. By this negligence the town almost forces people to take the law into their own hands and get out with a blunderbuss to scare off marauding animals. It is a crying shame that those who try to beautify their surroundings should have their efforts brought to nought because of lack of law enforcement. But lo, a more glorious day approaches. A few cows were in the pound this week.

SUMMER APPROACHES, and with it increased traffic on dust obscured roads. With speed fiends and clouds of dust on gravelled highways, it is no longer a pleasure to go motoring. Greater enjoyment is derived from a walk in the woods, where even if you tire your pedal extremities you do not swallow the dust and come home half blinded and in a state of irritation. We overlook the pleasures that are nearest to us, of the health-giving recreation obtained by getting away from the noise and bustle and taking a walk occasionally along the quieter paths where one is free to commune with nature and his thoughts, and where the travelling is absolutely free, no gasoline tax to pay and no tax to pay on the pleasure you derive. Thank goodness there are some things we can enjoy without being taxed.

THE CANADIAN LEGION is putting on a carnival to raise money towards erecting a social club, which it is hoped will be an asset to the community. There is a lack of a social centre of this type, and for that reason the effort should meet with wholehearted support. Give the Legion a hand by buying a ticket and attending the show on May 30 and June 1. It is too early to state anything definite about the plans in view, but the executive have quite an ambitious scheme as their objective over which they are quite enthusiastic.

MISCELLANEOUS

A heavy frost greeted early risers on Thursday morning.

Two ladies from Creston were in to day making enquiries with a view to opening a ladies wear store.

Sixteen ladies were entertained at bridge by Mrs. J. A. McDonald on Wednesday evening, the prize-winners being Mrs. Halliwell, Mrs.
Rippon and Mrs. Foster (consolation).

Walter B. Purvis, chairman of the carnival committee of the Canadian Legion, was a business visitor to Calgary on Friday, making arrangements for purchasing articles for the stalls at the carnival. He was accompanied by Mrs. Purvis.

Local News

Sunday, May 10 is Mother's Day.

Mrs. Fleming of Wheet Coleman is recovering from a severe attack of influenza.

Wm. Borrowe, recently returned from Alberta University, where he is studying pharmacy, has been added to the staff at McBurney's drug store for the summer months.

Names to be balloted on after the evening service at St. Paul's church next Sunday, are Rev. H. J. Bevan of Mannville, Rev. Mr. Hocking of Stavely and Rev. Mr. Peters of Granum.

Dr. Blair returned from Calgary on Wednesday afternoon, where he had taken Hugh Dunlop, sr., who was operated on by Dr. Shore, eye specialist. The operation is reported as satisfactory, and Mr.
Dunlop will probably return on Saturday.

Mrs. J. Bell's confectionery store was robbed of about $40 in cash after 1:30 a.m. Saturday. The money was taken from the kitchen, part of it being in a savings bank belonging to the children. The broken bank was found later near the railroad. Cigarettes to the value of $5.00 was also stolen. No clue was obtained to the robbery in Webster's store which was broken into recently, when some cash and goods were stolen.

The Hustlers, a junior football club in Lethbridge, have asked for a game against Coleman juniors, on Monday, May 25 at Coleman.
Lethbridge asks no guarantee and Ray Spillers, secretary of the local club, informs The Journal that Coleman will accept the invitation.
Local soccer fans can expect to see a good game between two well matched teams.

Poisoning of dogs continues, several being found dead last week.
On Tuesday a dog owned by Miss Winnifred Dunlop was found dead near the Anglican church, and on Wednesday Mrs. J. O. C. McDonald found her pet Chow dead on the doorstep when she returned from a shopping trip downtown.
Andy Dow's valuable setter was also among the victims, and though an emetic was administered, it was too far gone to save.

Shortage of housing accommodation has become so acute that a number of Coleman people have been considering renting houses in Blairmore. Every available house here is rented, and in many cases rents have been increased. One party reported to The Journal he had been notified his rent would be doubled or he could vacate. It comes very hard on day wage earners, for they have no place to go.
It is practically impossible to secure building loans in mining towns.

"That we do not collect the tax in its present form, but are willing to have the tax added to all goods bought by Alberta merchants, and to be collected by the wholesale houses. On goods purchased from outside the province, the tax to be computed on the invoice values and paid by the merchants."

After the heat of the battle over the Consumers Tax had died down, George Cruickshank brought up the matter of uniform closing hours for the Pass towns. An agreement had been made so many years ago that its exact date was lost in the mists of antiquity, so it was decided to forget the past and all its attendant recriminations on who had kept to the agreement and who hadn't, and wipe the slate clean. But, in the meantime, before another meeting is called to hear what the government has to say to the protest over the Consumers Tax, all merchants were enjoined to consider coming to an agreement, and to bring a proposal for opening and closing hours for ratification.

After a most interesting evening, during which Mrs. John Bell of the Elite Confectionery (the only lady present) bravely endured the discussion to the bitter end, the meeting adjourned.

A traffic jam occurred on Wednesday at noon when two cars and a wagon, loaded with heavy timber, met at the turn in the road close by John Hopkins' residence. In order to escape collision the teamster drove his wagon into the ditch, while the drivers of the cars swerved aside to avoid collision. The car drivers stopped to aid the teamster to extricate his wagon, which took nearly an hour before it was pulled on to the road.

Succeeded In Mission

Miniaature Painter Able To Get Close-Up Of King Edward

Josef Hilpert, who recently painted the smallest miniature in the world—a portrait of Premier Hepburn on a bloodstone, told the Toronto branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club how he recently "crashed the gates" to get a close-up of His Majesty King Edward VIII.

"I thought I'd like to paint him. But when I got there it wasn't so easy. I said I'd come 4,000 miles for the chance. But I was told there were thousands of artists who wanted to paint him," Mr. Hilpert explained. He discovered the British Industries' Fair was scheduled to start on Thursday of that week. He secured a ticket and buyer, to pass the director of the fair and police, found through which door and at what time His Majesty would due to arrive. "I then got permission to stand in an exhibit and joined the Royal entourage as it passed. The King turned and said: 'Do you belong to the Royal Family?'"

"Oh, I'm a Canadian representative here," he managed to reply.

"Thank you," came the response, and Mr. Hilpert marched on. He came back to Canada with several miniatures.

Mr. Hilpert chose Mr. Hepburn as subject for the smallest miniature in the world because, he explained: "Everybody likes him or doesn't like him."

A Diverting Story

Professor Demonstrates To Class The Power Of Suggestion

From Fremont, Nebraska, comes one of the most diverting stories of the day. Professor Hickman, holding a bottle filled with fluid in front of his physiology class at Midland University, uncorked it and asked the students to raise their hands as soon as they smelled chloroform. In two seconds, the first hand had been raised. In forty seconds twenty-six out of a total of thirty students present declared they smelled chloroform. Then the professor closed his simple experiment with the equally simple statement: "This bottle contains water."—Montreal Star.

Nine accounting and auditing firms divided $198,000 in receipts for their services to the price spreads inquiry of 1934, according to a return tabbed in the House of Commons. The highest amount paid to any one firm was $104,277, and the lowest $161.

Senior partners charged $75 per day for their services, and the daily rates graduated down to $10 for stenographers.

Have New Theory

Believe Grand Canyon Of Arizona Was Formed By Meteor

A theory that the Grand Canyon of Arizona was formed when a giant meteor struck the earth was advanced before the southwest section of the Association for the Advancement of Science.

Disagreeing with the commonly accepted theory that the gorge was the result of erosion, Capt. J. Turley, Albuquerque, N.M., civil engineer, contended the canyon was created when a meteor struck the earth with great force 40 miles west of Flagstaff about 600 years ago.

"You don't. Yer oughter 'ave yer brains looked at."

"Yus, and you oughter 'ave your brains looked at, and if the bloke wot looks at 'em don't find nuffink wrong then 'e oughter 'ave 'is look-ed at."

Here's fun for you and beauty for your dinner or tea table—in a busy pattern which you can master so easily of sitting. It won't take you any time at all to learn the "sample" square design, on which all the others are based, and to crochet a goodly number of squares. When you've enough, join them to make a beautiful table cloth, bedspread, dresser scarf or pillow cover. These sit back and wait for compliments!

Using Different Colors

Great Britain Painting Submarines To Match The Sea

The British admiralty, after several years of experimenting, has decided to paint its submarines in different colors to "match" the sea where they serve.

The main purpose of the "protective coloring" is to make the submerged craft invisible to low flying aeroplanes.

For some time it was the theory of naval experts that gray-green would prove the best color, regardless of what sea a submarine might be cruising in. But the fact of the oceans vary so much in color that new shades had to be added.

British submarines operating in the Atlantic ocean, for instance, will remain gray-green, but those stationed in the Mediterranean will be royal blue. Curiously, those in the Red Sea will be painted black.

A Wingless Airship

A wingless airship now being tested in France is propelled by two "windmill" blades which are mounted tandem over the pilot's head, one of which sustains the ship in flight, while the other supplies the forward motion.

Ambitious Air Adventure

United States Airman Plans For Non-Stop Trip Around The World

Clyde Pangborn, trans-Atlantic aviator, is tuning up two aeroplanes for ambitious air adventures—record distance and globe-girdling attempts which would possibly include refueling in mid-air at Edmonton.

He wants to break the world's distance record of 5,657 miles set by M. Rossi and P. Codros of France in 1932.

Then he wants to fly non-stop around the world, with two or possibly three refueling contacts in mid-air, a thing never before attempted.

Pangborn has accepted delivery of the aeroplane in which he hopes to make the round-the-world flight, he said, and has taken it up for several satisfactory tests.

"I'd like to start the distance flight the latter part of June," he said, "either from Dallas, where I have been dickered with exposition officials, or from Daytona Beach, Fla."

Moscow, about 6,000 miles from either Dallas or Daytona Beach, will be his objective.

The flight to Russia will serve a double purpose, he said. In addition to the hoped-for breaking of the distance record, Pangborn wants to make arrangements with the Soviet government for refueling stations at Moscow and Chita, in Siberia, for the round-the-world flight, the date of which is indefinite.

For the globe circling, Pangborn may arrange for an auxiliary refueling station at Edmonton. The flight probably will start from New York.

Claims World Record

After remaining under water for 18 hours, Konstantinov, a Soviet diver, claims the world record for duration of time beneath the surface of the sea. He made the record, Moscow reports, while repairing the hull of a tugboat which had sunk in the Arctic Ocean.

Explanations And Comments

A Lesson on Perseverance in Prayer, Luke 18:1-8. Jesus gave his disciples the parable of the Unjust Judge and the Impudent Widow, for the purpose of teaching them ("to the end that") that they ought always to pray, and not to faint. He also gave a parable and the need of always being ready and never losing heart. Moffatt's translation.

The widow in our parable implored the judge in season and out of season, and for a long time he would not hear her. As St. Paul says, "Parks Cadman puts it, 'She camped on his crooked trail, and like the man from Shropshire in 'Break Hearted,' she beat him hard at every time and in every place.' Finally the judge gave her justice, not because he had been moved by her justice, but literally by her importunity."

"It is primarily an athletic word belonging to the pugilistic arena. Jesus must have used a very strong corrective. After all, it conveys his absolute requirement of importunity in prayer." Moffatt's translation reads: Though I have no reverence for God and no respect even for man, still, as this widow is bothering me, I will see justice done to her—not for her sake, but for importuning and pestering me."

"Hear what the unrighteous judge said: 'I act as I do at the conclusion of his parable, such a wholly unprincipled man would give up the importance of a persevering woman, how much more will just God be ready to hear and respond to persevering prayer!"

YOUR GARDEN

Weather, soil and location may be ideal but without good seed, specially selected to suit Canadian conditions, the garden is going to be a failure. There is no guarantee that a variety which has given wonderful results in Great Britain or the Southern States will do equally well in this country, and we are advised to secure seeds and nursery stock from a reliable Canadian source.

Many people believe that it is more difficult to grow certain annual flowers than a few kinds of common vegetables. This is not so. In many respects it is easier to produce the flowers. Of course there are certain things like gorseous roses, tulips, larkspur, and iris, and, indeed, statice Lilles which can only not thrive in the same soil as the average garden. We are advised to secure seeds and nursery stock from a reliable Canadian source.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans of the dam. To help him learn what he could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done.

It is cold, he lights the fire and writes down the plans.

The fire wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious.

He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Buzz Hamilton arrives back in Ralston while Fleming and Helen are in the bank getting a loan for payment of wages for work on the dam. Gillett's Lye is used to meet him and goes into the saloon with them. By the time his sister and Link come from the bank, Buzz has had several drinks. Roper has dictated the final costing of the dam proposal to Buzz, making it appear that Link was trying to ruin him. Buzz, inflamed with liquor and anger, tries to shoot Fleming, but is thrown to the floor. The man appears and tells Fleming she has been robbed of the $800 they had obtained from the bank.

On their arrival there they were met by a couple of Link's workmen, who told Fleming that there was a strike at the dam and that the men were afraid they would not get their wages. They were afraid to strike and promised them their money as soon as possible. The men reluctantly returned to work.

Fleming demands Roger to make him a mark-up, which amounts to his workers and orders them off his place at the point of his gun. Both Jackpot and Roper swear revenge.

Mell telling Fleming to weak him with a gun as well would shoot him the next time they met.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XII.

Toward noon 10 o'clock the following morning Link rode back to his ranch house after a visit to North Valley, where with Waco Byrne and his skeleton force of riders he had gone about cutting all available steers from his herd assembled there. The result was nearly four hundred head, all he could possibly spare without seriously crippling his prospects for the coming year, even considering the probable sale of alfalfa grown by irrigation, which would enable him to purchase new breeding stock.

As he neared the corral, pondering ranch affairs, he saw the ramrod figure of Ames Stephen waiting. Apprehension flashed through his brain, but he nodded coolly and rode closer. "What's on your mind this mornin', Sheriff?"

The other did not dismount, but sat masticating a fresh bite of tobacco. "Link, is there any way you can get out from under this here fully of yours?"

He was forced to grin even though the words had a concerning ring. "Not unless I stay on this hoss and ride full sun."

"Himm. Frop what I hear you're goin' to lose everything."

The rancher looked up. "What do you mean, Ames?"

Stephen pursed his lips as if to whistle, but changed his mind. "Due for killin', too. That's bad. I heard about Mell markin' yuh, Link." He shook his head sadly. "I'm dead set against shootin', but it happens sometimes anyhow. Shouldn't have got his dander up. U-huh, Jackpot ain't never failed yet to kill a man he set his mind to."

There was a momentary silence. "What do you mean about losing everything?" the spread boss asked quietly.

"Nothin' in particular. Only I come past the Hamilton place and caught Helen lookin' like she ain't slept all night. Worry done it, I reckon. Worry from bills and havin' in' you marked for Boot Hill. All that from Fleming's Folly... Fleming's Folly from that crack-brained noodle of yours!"

"You really think I'm crack-brained, Sheriff?"

Stephen's cheeks grudgingly relaxed into what was for him a benevolent grin though for anyone else it would have been merely a reflective smile. "Reckon yuh'll go busted. Everybody says so. Mell and Roper and Matt Benson and

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the cure of neuralgia or rheumatism, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin".

We believe, because, before the discovery of "Aspirin", most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians because they were often injurious to the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect have proved that the medical findings about its safety are correct.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Ludwig, Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

That Howland, and even your own partner's brother, Link, yuh shouldn't have cooked up this here scheme. What yuh do about after yuh go busted and take the Triple H along? And get yourself killed? What about the gal?" he persisted.

Fleming dropped from his saddle, rolled rein over the mare's ears, and rolled himself a smoke. "In that case, and if I don't become another county murder case, I'll maybe ride to your house in town, Ames, and ask for a hundred dollars. Then I'll marry Helen Hamilton and hit the trail."

The other's piercing gaze did not waver. "You ain't a good risk around here. Gettin' out of the only condition I'd loan yuh money on. Howsumever," Stephen observed, and spat with extreme accuracy at a distant tuft of bunchgrass. "I kinda think yuh won't get Helen."

"No? Who will?"

"Roper."

Link smiled. "He did have the inside track for awhile, that's true. Don't think he has it any more, though."

"Shore he has. Got it again."

"What's that?"—stirringly.

"He's shore makin' a heady play, or I ain't never been 'lectred sheriff."

Abruptly he changed the subject, as was his wont. "Have yuh turned up anything about that holdup and the eight hundred?"

Link shook his head. "I'm dependin' on you, Ames."

"Yeah." He gathered his reins and readjusted himself in the worn Mexican saddle. "I'm after the horse now, but I don't know where he is, where he is, or if he is." All I got is a hunch about them leather cuffs Helen grabbed one of. I'm in a hurry, Link," he added—and rode quickly out of earshot.

Fleming looked after, noting that Stephen headed for Silver Creek Dam. He realized in his odd, taciturn way, Ames had wished him well, expressed confidence in Link as a man but skepticism in him as a builder of the irrigation dam. Also that he had delivered a friendly warning in regard to Kilgo seeking favor with Helen Hamilton, and that he had little notion yet who had held her up.

The rancher sat and smoked in sober reflection. To a man, Boone County believed and smugly hoped, that his pains would end in ruin. Queer, how obstinate people could be in regard to improvement. Merely because irrigation was as yet something new and outside their limited experience, they fully expected his dam to fail!

It is noticeable that the boulder-shouldered rider approaching, his carriage plainly that of one unused to the saddle. In some surprise Link recognized the hang-dog outline of Buzz Hamilton.

Hamilton's brother rode straight toward him and dismounted. "Hello, Link. Gettin' yore men over to the Triple H soon, isn't yuh? Our boys are waitin' with every pound of beef we can spare, and I understand Marty Bush promised to put us first in shippin' tomorrow morn. They'll have to start for Junction to day."

Puzzlement must have betrayed itself, for Buzz laughed somewhat self-consciously and climbed beside Link, holding his mount's reins over one wrist while he produced cigarette material.

"Feealin' a little cooled off since yesterday," he asked.

"Sure. It was those other homin' bodes made me sore. Gyp had made trouble before. Buster fired him and I had to knock him down. Roper didn't hardly win my love there at the dam, and as far's Jackpot Mell is concerned..."

WANT TO WIN

$500

and a trip to New York?

THE JOURNAL WILL BE GLAD TO HELP YOU.

What does a live, up-to-date paper like the Journal mean to you as a reader and a citizen of this community? Could you dramatize its significance in a 30-minute radio script?

The National Broadcasting Company, together with a number of independent stations, plans to present such a program under the title, "Salute to the Modern Newspaper." The occasion for the broadcast will be the 50th Anniversary of the introduction of the Linotype, a key invention that freed newspapers from the limitations of hand-composition and made possible the development of the newspaper as we know it today.

A prize of $500 and a trip to New York have been offered for the best radio script submitted. Competition is open to anyone in the United States or Canada.

If you would like to enter the contest, the Journal will be glad to give you further information on the contest and invites you to visit its plant and see for yourself the operation of a modern newspaper.

"SALUTE TO THE MODERN NEWSPAPER" will be broadcast locally over Station KOA, Denver.
